विद्यार्थी और वर्तमान युग

किताबों के पन्ने हैं, टैबलेट की है चमक, वर्तमान युग में,
छात्र का जीवन है अथक। आँखों में नींद कम, सपनों का है
शोर, इक नई दौड़ में है, ये भोर और वो छोर। सुबह की
अज्ञान से लेकर रात के सन्नाटे तक, ज्ञान की प्यास है, हर
पल, हर एक झटके तक। मोबाइल में दुनिया है, इंटरनेट का
जाल, उंगलियों पर सारी खबरें, कैसा है ये कमाल! परंपरा
का भार भी है, आधुनिकता का स्वाद, परीक्षा का डर भी है,
नवाचार का उन्माद। रोज़ नए लक्ष्य हैं, हर रोज़ है नई
खोज, पीछे न छूट जाए कोई, यही है उसकी सोच। योग और
व्यायाम भी जरूरी, सेहत का रखना ध्यान, पर स्क्रीन टाइम
में ही खोया रहता है उसका जहान। माता-पिता की आशाएँ,
शिक्षकों का विश्वास, बनाना है भविष्य उज्जवल, यही है
उसका प्रयास। वो सिर्फ़ किताबी कीड़ा नहीं, वो दुनिया को
पहचानता है, अपने हक़ के लिए लड़ना, और बोलना भी
जानता है। हाँ, थोड़ा दबाव है, तनाव भी है संग, पर इस पीढ़ी
के इरादे, हैं बिल्कुल अखंड। समय की नज़ाकत को, वो खूब
समझता है, आने वाले कल को, आज वो गढ़ता है। वो कल
का निर्माता है, वर्तमान की है शान, हर एक विद्यार्थी को मेरा
शत-शत प्रणाम।

EDUCATION

Life Skills

What is the real need...?

In today's era, the importance of education has increased more than ever before. Education is no longer limited to just reading, writing, or obtaining marks; rather, it has become a medium of overall personality development. The aim of modern education is to provide children and youth with such abilities that help them face life's challenges confidently and contribute positively to society.

Lack of Emotional Intelligence :

The biggest challenge today is that most children are not able to manage their time properly. They are unable to balance physical, mental, social, and emotional development. The foundation of childhood is built not only on books and marks, but also on the values of discipline, concentration, empathy, and cooperation. Paying attention to these aspects is just as important as studying mathematics, science, and other subjects.

Challenge of the Digital Age :

Today's children do not suffer from a lack of knowledge, but rather from excessive information (Information Overload). In such a situation, it is not enough to just teach them to study; it is equally important to teach them how to choose the right information and how to use it effectively. This skill of critical thinking will help them move forward.

"Every Child is Unique, Let him create his own world rather than making him a bookish worm".

In a world of grades and hurried pace, A child's true spirit finds its place.
Don't just fill his mind with printed lines, But let him explore where sunlight shines.
He is not a book to be bound and read, But a universe waiting to be spread.
Let his imagination take its flight, And paint his world in colors bright.

“The Puzzle of Us”—A Poem on Human Behaviour

The poem explores the complexity of human behaviour, showing how our actions, emotions, and thoughts are influenced by many different factors such as society, culture, and personal experiences. It explains that people behave in different ways depending on where they live, how they grow up, and who they are surrounded by. From childhood to old age, we are constantly learning, changing, and trying to understand ourselves. Sometimes we follow others, sometimes we act differently when we are alone, and we often feel many emotions at once—like love, fear, kindness, or anger. The poem also reminds us that famous thinkers have tried to explain why we behave the way we do, but human behaviour is still full of mystery. In the end, it encourages us not to judge others quickly, because everyone has their own story and reasons behind their actions. Most importantly, it suggests that the best way to understand human behaviour is to start by learning about ourselves.

In quiet streets and bustling towns, In royal robes or worker's gowns, From cradle soft to age's grey, Our actions shape the world each day.

A smile can build, a word destroy, A tear may come from grief or joy. We laugh, we fight, we sometimes lie—But ask us why... and we'll ask why?

We copy crowds, we follow trends, We lean on foes, rely on friends. In solitude, we seek our place, Yet in a group, we hide our face.

A toddler learns by watching close, A teen rebels, then needs a dose Of rules to break, of roles to try—To find the “me” behind the “why.”

Our cultures shape the way we see— What's “rude” to you is “right” to me. Beliefs and norms—both taught and caught—Frame every feeling, word, and thought.

We're kind and cruel, we're brave and scared, We share the best... and hoard what's spared. We yearn for love, yet fear the pain—We walk in sun, then dance in rain. From Freud to Skinner, Mead to Marx, They've all left us their human marks. But still, the truth is rarely neat—We're minds and hearts, both fierce and sweet.

So next time someone's acting odd, Before you judge or call it flawed—Remember: we're a tangled thread, Of what we've seen, and what's been said.

A mystery, both wild and true—The greatest study still... is you.
